LPGA TOUR	PGA TOUR	NOTES
Madelene Sagström	Ludvig Åberg	Åberg will tee it up for the first time since his breakthrough TOUR win at The RSM Classic. Åberg's caddie Jack Clarke is engaged to Sagström, who had three top-10 finishes on the LPGA this season and played in the Solheim Cup as a captain's pick.
Allisen Corpuz	Cameron Champ	Corpuz, a second-year LPGA member, notched five top 10s this season including a major triumph at the U.S. Women's Open at Pebble Beach. Champ had three top 10s this season.
Brooke Henderson	Corey Connors	The all-Canadian squad features Henderson, who won the LPGA's 2023 season opener – the Hilton Grand Vacations Tournament of Champions – and Connors, the country's top-ranked male golfer. Connors won the Valero Texas Open earlier in 2023. Henderson is the

		winningest Canadian golfer – on the LPGA
Lilia Vu	Joel Dahmen	Vu comes into the week after earning 2023 LPGA Player of the Year honors. She won four times this season including two majors. Dahmen, meanwhile, had five top 10s and finished 84th in the FedExCup.
Lydia Ko	Jason Day	This year, Day returned to the PGA TOUR winner's circle for the first time since 2018 at the AT&amp;T Byron Nelson and finished 28th in the FedExCup. Ko entered 2023 after a Player of the Year campaign the season prior. She is 11th in the world ranking.
Celine Boutier	Harris English	Like Vu, Boutier won four times on the LPGA this season including a major (Amundi Evian Championship). English, meanwhile, won this event's previous iteration three times alongside partner Matt Kuchar along with two runner-up finishes.
Nelly Korda	Tony Finau	Last year, Korda paired with Denny McCarthy at this event's previous iteration. This year, Korda – who had

		nine LPGA top 10s this year and won on the Ladies European Tour – is alongside Finau, who won twice on the PGA TOUR this season.
Lexi Thompson	Rickie Fowler	This year, Fowler returned to the TOUR winner's circle for the first time since 2019 and returned to the Ryder Cup as well. Thompson nearly made the cut at the Shriners Children's Open on the PGA TOUR this fall and ended her LPGA season with three straight top 10s – her best results of the year.
Leona Maguire	Lucas Glover	Glover won back-to-back events on TOUR this fall including the FedEx St. Jude Championship to open the FedExCup Playoffs. Maguire, meanwhile, won the Meijer LPGA Classic and had six top 10s.
Mel Reid	Russell Henley	This will be Reid's first start since she and wife Carly welcomed their son on Nov. 11. Henley won the World Wide Technology Championship and ended up 14th in the FedExCup standings.

Cheyenne Knight	Tom Hoge	Hoge returns to Tiburón as the “defending” champion this year, but with a new partner in Knight. Knight already has a win with a partner this year. She and Elizabeth Szokol won the Dow Great Lakes Bay Invitational on the LPGA (its annual team event) in July.
Andrea Lee	Billy Horschel	Horschel finished runner-up at Tiburón in 2021 and had three top-10s on the PGA TOUR this season. Lee, meanwhile, had the same number of top 10s on the LPGA and made her Solheim Cup debut this fall.
Megan Khang	Denny McCarthy	McCarthy, who finished T5 alongside Nelly Korda last year at this event’s prior iteration, will now pair with Korda’s good friend Megan Khang. Khang captured her first LPGA title this summer at the CPKC Women’s Open and was a sparkplug on the American Solheim Cup team.
Charley Hull	Justin Rose	An all-English pairing. Rose won the AT&amp;T Pebble Beach Pro-Am in February, had five top 10s and was a

		leader on the winning European Ryder Cup team. Hull was part of the European Solheim Cup team that retained the cup, while she had an equal parts impressive and maddening four runner-up finishes in 2023.
Ruoning Yin	Nick Taylor	Yin made a big splash in her second year on the LPGA. At just 20, Yin won twice including the KPMG Women's PGA Championship and reached No. 1 in the world. Taylor won the RBC Canadian Open, becoming the first Canadian to win on home soil on the men's side in 69 years. Yin's current caddie used to work for Taylor, while the pair share a short-game coach.
Rose Zhang	Sahith Theegala	The other half of last year's winning duo, Theegala, will look to put a bow on a fabulous fall after his first TOUR win in September at the Fortinet Championship. He's paired with Zhang, who made an immediate impact on the LPGA after a star-studded amateur and collegiate career at Stanford. Zhang won her first LPGA start as a pro, the Mizuho Americas Open, the first time that's happened since 1951.

FORMAT: The 16 mixed teams will play three distinct formats including scramble, Foursomes and modified Four-ball. The first round will feature scramble and the second round will utilize Foursomes (alternate shot). The third round will feature a new format to team play. In the “modified Four-ball,” both players will tee off and then they will switch balls for their second shots and play that ball until holed. The lower score of the partners will count as the team score.

COURSE: Tiburón Golf Club

Men: par 72, 7,382 yards

Women: par 72, 6,595 yards.

A previous iteration of this event was played at Tiburón from 2001 to 2022. The layout is also the host of the LPGA’s season-ending CME Group Tour Championship (this year won by Amy Yang, who fired a tournament course-record 27 under). The course is littered with waste areas and water hazards, and a creative short game is required.
